TRADES UNION FOLLIES. With the kindest possible regard for mechanics and working men-and we are proud to be of both classes-and willing as we are to do all in our power to advance their interests, we cannot but protest against the supremely suicidal forly of many of the regulations and rules of their various organizations. An important decision deeply affecting trade mions has just been delivered in Crawford county, Pennsylvania. The proprictors of the Titusville Union newspapers refused to accede to certain demands of the printers. The union ordered a strike. Non-union men were sent for from Pittsburg. This fact having become known to the union, its officers issued a circular in which they warned members of the society everywhere not to come to Titusville, and they also appointed a committee whose duty it should be to prevent printers from taking work at the Courier office, a duty which the committee fulfilled, to the serious detriment of the proprietor. He, therefore, prosecuted the printers for conspiracy; but at the first trial the jury was unable to agree. Tried a second time, they were convicted. Part of the charge of Judge Lowrie is reproduced from the synopsis of the Pittsburg Commercial:

Lowrie is reproduced from the synopsis of the Pittsburg Commercial:

Taking up the particular "combination" on trial, the typographical union, the ledge called particular attention to several articles of its constitution. According to one of them, one object of the association is the "regulation of prices and all other things appertaining to the management of the printing business eithin its jurisdiction." The power thus claimed in, as the judge remarked, a power which even the legislature samnot eithor give or exercise. The reason is obvious. Such a power cannot be exercised without priguities to some perion of society, white it would be fangerone to the freedom of all in the context of their business. But the society which assumes this power bolds its assists in secret, eithout the presence of an employer to represent the interest of his class, and may attach and penalty it can enforce to disregard it is resolutions. Another object of the mion is "the regulation of the apprendication assum apprentice in the own office without he consent of the drien. A strike may be the sensity of independence. "But," says ludge owner, "no set of men can be allowed to inserter with your lawful plans of life, because hey may suppose that they thereby benefit heir own, The hash of the union in stigmaning expelled members with oddous hames, i.e., the longe apparently regards as a feature of an unlaw his combination, These and other sating expelled members with oddous hames, i.e., the longe apparently regards as a feature of an unlaw his combination, These and other sating expelled members with oddous hames, i.e., the longe apparently regards as a feature of an unlaw his combination, These and other sating expelled members with oddous hames, i.e., the longe apparently regards as a feature of an unlaw his combination, These and other sating expelled members of an entire of any others, with vident on alter that closers the set with riminality, and in the evidence produced in the case before him, the longe thought that accombination

If we are not mistaken a similar contest was once made in Richmond, Virginia, with similar results. The typographical unions were at first intended to merely regulate prices, and in this they have, and always will have, the full sympathy of the community, so far as they do not interfere with the personal rights of individuals. But when they undertake to control and manage the establishment in which they are employed, and by the force of combination nake the employer a mere tool in the hands of his employes, their action is as unjust as it is unlawful. The rule limiting the number of apprentices is a gross outrage upon individual rights. The poor proprietor of a news paper, with a large and dependent family, cannot put his own sons in his own office, paid for with his own money, for the purpose of supporting themselves and sisters without the consent of the combination that has usurped control over his property. If a printer becomes proprietor of a newspaper he cannot extend to his own children the advantages that were enjoyed by their father. The relations of the APPEAL Publishing Company with the Typographical Union of Memphis have ever been amicable and harmonious, but we must confess there is much in their organization which is unjust and highly objection-

THE TEUE POLICY OF THE SOUTH. The American Grocer, a paper published in New York, and one of inestimable value to the trade, recently published an article on the duty of the south, in which it suggested variety of culture on the part of the planters and variety of pursuit on the part of those engaged in trade and commerce. This article, parts of which were published in the APPEAL, has attracted a great deal of attention and much comment, the gist of which may be gathered from the following letter from a Mr. A. E. Kennedy, of Selma, Alabama, to the editors of the Grocer. He says:

Inclosed we hand you a clipping from you aper, and we feel tapeded to thank you not at the same time compliment you, to be really valuable article on the south. From what we can learn of the influences of the granges in this section of country, the above fairly states the conduct of our people and the probable results to be reached after the hard lessons we have been learning for years. Nothing pays so well as manufacturing, as witness England and the cities of the road, and turn it over to East Tenneswest. After variety in farming, then see's railroad king, Mr. Wilson, who let us have all the varieties of manufachas been "prospecting" recently through Texas. The report of the committee, to be made this morning, will settle these questions. If Messra Wilson and Jaques

the South. He says:

To have submitted without some appearance of a fight was beyond the course of human pride, and harter appealed to Cresar, on the one hand, to the populace on the other. Thus it stands at the present writing; Bowle-knives are uneasy in their sheaths; six-shooters are pushed to said fro by nervous fingers, Itching to draw; field-pitces, laden with grape and builets, are ready to be discharged into the populace, nine pears after the disbandment of the armies of the rebellion. Nothing keeps the forces assunder but that nameies hesitation awakened by the legality, "Which is the just the first of the rebellion. The property of Little Rock. What is the deduction from all this? That reconstruction by carpet leaging is very thin agliation and very constant evaporation. That the organic forces of sedlety will never assimilate with a set of new-comers without moral rights, whose rule is a succession of dissipations and jobs. That, by tampering with state geveramental in the interests of his favorites, the Prescent has set an example to the carpetbaggers in every State which they have "jumped" to maintain their position by firsted if they can, by force if they must. The time is at hand when a Republican analous in succession and the readent has set an example to the carpetbaggers in every State which they have "jumped" to maintain their position by firsted if they can, by force if they must. The time is at hand when a Republican analous in seven years to make Arkansas like them and their institutions, they must give it up. Perhaps, in seven years more, the people of the state will sarrive at some durable conclusion, acting under the stimulus of their own needs and wishes.

This is the whole thing in a nutshell. ber of congress from this district has scaped the flery furnace. It seems for the present his consecrated person is not to be used in enriching the earth and in producing cabbages and squashes, as he has appeared in congress full of life and ocundity. A few days ago Judge Lewis introduced five petitions all at nce, which were appropriately referred. It is an easy matter to introduce petitions and hills, but it is another thing to get them through, and those interested will watch with great eagerness, as the result will show whether Judge Lewis's performances are equal to his promises. By the way, the people of Memuhis are inxious to know what has become of their nstorahouse. We see that the cornertone of the immense government building at Raleigh, North Carolina, will be laid on the fourth of July. Memphis is a larger and more important city than Raleigh. The people of this district elected Lewis to congress and gratified rim by electing a Radical mayor of Temphis, in order to get a customhouse, nd they don't propose to be cheated,
